

Chronic Condition Clinical Guideline Summary 2023 Annual Review

There is an ongoing comprehensive review of all Chronic Condition Management (CCM) and Wellness & Health Promotion (WHP) program materials. Given that the CCM and WHP programs are based on guidelines from recognized sources, all collaterals for these programs are developed to be consistent with these guidelines. Cigna collaborated with Healthwise® to develop, adopt and update evidence-based clinical practice guidelines.

Guidelines are reviewed for consistency with the following:

- CCM and WHP program content
- Practitioner program content review
- Customer education/tools material review
- Staff training materials
- Gaps in Care (Well Informed) program

Healthwise® content is developed and reviewed by public health and medical professionals with experience in scientific research and medical writing. The Healthwise Medical Team, Content Team, and Medical Library work together to develop accurate, current, and well-written content. These teams are made up of physician reviewers, a behavioral health expert, medical librarians, medical content specialists, medical writers and editors, and other public health professionals with experience in consumer-based health decisions and health literacy guidelines.

Healthwise based content contained in each update is also reviewed for cultural and linguistic appropriateness. In addition to examining content related to overall health beliefs/practices, health literacy (plain language/usability/understandability), preferred language and other communication needs, this review also considers the following:

- Diversity
 - Human: race, gender, sexual orientation, body type/ability, ethnicity, and age
 - Cultural: language, religion, class, ethics, and values
 - Systems: organizational role/function, geographic location, organizational culture
- Gender Inclusive Language
- Illustrations that represent diverse cultures, races, and ethnicities in common or accessible environments

Healthwise® guideline reviews/updates are provided on a quarterly basis as applicable to Cigna and then undergo Cigna's internal review process to verify alignment with program content and training materials. Online materials (Healthwise Knowledgebase and educational materials) are automatically updated within 30 days of Cigna receiving the updates. Cigna's review of new information includes the sources of this information, an assessment of value to the patient and the decision process related to potentially implementing changes. Cigna's Integrated Health Management Quality Committee (IHMQC) reviews and approves the annual guideline summary for the following chronic conditions: Asthma, Depression, Anxiety, Diabetes, Heart Failure, Coronary Heart Disease, Peripheral Arterial Disease, Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease, Osteoarthritis, Metabolic Syndrome, and Low Back Pain.
